School Web Site: www.kent.ac.uk/brussels

Please refer to the online Module Catalogue for full details of all modules:
www.kent.ac.uk/courses/modulecatalogue/

The standard programmes offered by the Brussels School of International Studies (BSIS) start in September, are worth 180 credits (90 ECTS), are full time and are taught exclusively at Brussels. The school offers a range of flexible study options to tailor this standard delivery to suit a student's particular requirements:

- Study for an additional term on an extended version of the programme, worth 240 credits (120 ECTS).
- Commence the programme in January rather than September.
- Add a secondary area of focus to the primary focus of the programme.
- Study at Canterbury, Beijing or Washington for part of the course.
- Study part time.
- Study only those modules that are of interest.

For further details on these options and how to apply for them please view the BSIS website on flexible study.

Two Capitals Exchange

Students that wish to take part in the Two Capitals Exchange programme study at either the China Foreign Affairs University (for either one year or one term) or Virginia Tech (for one year). Application Form.

The exchange may take place before or after Stage 2 of a 90 credit (180 ECTS) programme.

The following module will be added to your record if you complete the exchange:

Compulsory module:	MODULE CODE	MODULE TITLE	CREDIT AMOUNT	TERM TAUGHT	CREDIT LEVEL
POLI8105	PO8105	Two Capitals International Experience	60	Autumn & Spring	7

Split Site Study: Canterbury

Students may study for one term at the University of Kent's Canterbury campus as part of their programme. After completing 60 credits (or 120 credits) at BSIS, students study 60 credits at Canterbury then return to BSIS for their dissertation supervision.

The Split Site option is available for all Extended programmes and is also available for the following 180 credit (90 ECTS) programmes (January or September start):

MA International Conflict and Security
 MA International Relations
 LLM Human Rights Law
 LLM International Law

Students choose from the Level 7 modules offered by Kent Law School or the School of Politics. Those on an Extended programme may choose from either school. Those on a 180 credit programme must request approval from their programme director and should select politics modules (for those on MA programmes) or law modules (for those on LLM programmes).

Extended Programmes

Students study 60 credits per term, the dissertation completed in the final term.

For the September start extended programme these terms are as follows: Autumn 2018/19, Spring 2018/19, [Summer Break], Autumn 2019/20, Spring 2019/20.

For the January start extended programme these are as follows: Spring 2018/19, [Summer Break], Autumn 2019/20, Spring 2019/20, Summer 2019/20.

As such if you choose to take the extended version of a programme it is important to make a note of which term you wish to take a module in (e.g. for a September start whether the first or second Autumn term).

Subject Requirements - Contents

The courses offered by BSIS are listed below. For each course the standard programme version (September start, 180 credits) extended version, January start and its extended version are listed. The September start versions for each programme also include details for those that wish to add a secondary area of focus to their studies. Select a version for full details of the requirements:
