Why study abroad?

- Opportunities and challenges
- Increase your employability
  - Employers increasingly consider international experience to be important for employability
  - British employers need staff who have international experience and language skills
- Develop skills and attributes
- Enhance your studies

The long-term benefits

Students who study or work abroad tend on average to…

- Get better degree results
- Have higher employability skills
- Have lower rates of unemployment in the 6 months after graduation and longer term
- Have a higher starting salary

…than those who don’t study or work abroad.

Applying for a Study Abroad place

- The application deadline is Friday 3 November
- Choose from the list of partner universities for your subject area: www.kent.ac.uk/goabroad
- Do research those universities carefully
- Be pragmatic and consider all aspects
  - Environment and climate
  - Finance
  - Modules offered
- Check the teaching language
- Specify five choices
Application Form

- Application Form can be found on Moodle within DP6100 ‘Essential Study and Work Abroad Preparation’
- A budget plan will also need to be submitted
- Moodle is designed to help you prepare and make your choices
How the allocations are made

- Stage 1 average marks
- Attendance/academic standing
  - Senior tutor warnings and repeated non-attendance will be considered if an exchange is over-subscribed
- Suitability of exchange, taking into account
  - your subject area
  - your language skills
  - any student support needs, if applicable
- Availability of places at partner universities

While every effort will be make to allocate students to their first or second choices, the University reserves the right to decide otherwise based on the suitability of the exchange or the availability of places.
Brilliant and invaluable experience; I would recommend it to all. Really good life learning, a great time to have fun and widen your perspective...
