

PROUD OF OUR ALUMNI

Kazuo Ishiguro, BA English and Philosophy

University of Kent graduate Kazuo Ishiguro is one of the most celebrated contemporary fiction authors in the English-speaking world, having received four Man Booker Prize nominations, and winning the 1989 prize for his novel The Remains of the Day. In 2008, The Times included Ishiguro in their list of 'The 50 greatest British writers since 1945'.

A top-ranked UK university with a global reputation, Kent offers a wide range of foundation, undergraduate and postgraduate degrees.

www.kent.ac.uk/internationalstudent

University of Kent