Entry requirements

International Foundation Programme (IFP)
IFP students are part of the University student body and have full access to the university premises on campus. Upon successful completion of the IFP and satisfying the progression rules, students are guaranteed a place on an undergraduate degree at the University of Kent.

IFP gives you a year's preparation in academic subjects, English language and study skills up to the level required for entry to a degree programme. The programme provides entry into a wide range of Bachelor degrees in our faculties of Humanities, Social Sciences and Sciences.

Students from Turkey wishing to pursue a foundation programme at Kent will need to obtain a final grade of at least 70% or 3.5/5.0 in their High School Diploma (Devlet Lise Diplomasi or Lise Bitirme Diplomasi)

Students from highly ranked high schools with a final grade of at least 75% or 4.0/5.0 may be considered for direct entry to the first year, depending on their scores in key subjects.

We also offer 4-year integrated programmes which include a foundation year in Actuarial Science, Chemistry, Computer Systems Engineering, Electronic and Communications Engineering, Forensic Science, Mathematics and Physics. Entry to these may require you to have studied specific subjects at high school.

Undergraduate degree programmes
Turkish students with a High School Diploma (Devlet Lise Diplomasi or Lise Bitirme Diplomasi) from a highly ranked high school may be considered for entry to Year 1 of a Kent undergraduate degree programme, with a minimum final grade of 75% or 4.0/5.0. Students from other schools with very high grades may be considered on a case-by-case basis.

Applicants will also be considered with a minimum final GPA of at least 3.0/4.0 in their Onlisans Derecesi or Diplomasi from a recognised state or private university. Students with very high grades may be considered for 2nd year entry on a case-by-case basis if they have studied similar content to Year 1 of the relevant Kent undergraduate degree.

Postgraduate degree programmes
Turkish students typically need to have completed a Lisans Diplomasi from a recognised state or private university. Exact requirements will depend on the postgraduate degree you are applying for and the institution you have studied at.

- For programmes that require a 2:1 we usually ask for a final CGPA of 3.0/4.0. Students from highly ranked universities may be considered with a final CGPA of 2.8/4.0
- For programmes that require a 2:2 we usually ask for a final CGPA of 2.7/4.0
- Some postgraduate programmes have specific requirements about the candidates’ work experience or academic background. Please refer to the interested programme for details.

Applicants with relevant work experience may be considered with lower grades. The postgraduate application deadline for 2018/9 intake is 31 July 2018.

“...The University of Kent enables students to receive a fantastic education from qualified tutors on a modern campus with contemporary buildings. I chose Kent due to its worldwide reputation as well as the opportunities it could offer me. What I enjoy most about my course is the chance to improve my management skills by learning the most recent developments in the different sectors, and by networking with experienced business people, which will be useful for my future career.”
