Taking a Year Abroad

The School of Social Policy, Sociology and Social Research offers their undergraduate students the chance to add an optional year to their course of study. Please see the Study Abroad pages at <https://www.kent.ac.uk/go-abroad/study-abroad/course-list> for available courses.

General information on study abroad options is available at <https://www.kent.ac.uk/go-abroad>

The School of Social Policy, Sociology and Social Research offers its undergraduate students the chance to add an optional year abroad to their course of study (please note this option is NOT available for the Social Sciences with a Placement year BSc or the Criminal Justice and Criminology with a Placement year BA). Please see the Study Abroad pages at <https://www.kent.ac.uk/go-abroad/study-abroad/course-list> for available courses.

To be eligible for study abroad, you would normally need to have achieved an average of 60 or above in your first and second year of study. You are also advised to attend key talks and workshops offered by the International Partnerships Office and the School.

Where required, language achievement will be expected to be 40% or above as the courses the module contributes to are not language courses. To attend an institution where the language of instruction is not English, students must be able to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Year Abroad module convenor that they have sufficient language ability to do so, acquired either through modules studied at Kent or through other study or experience. This will include demonstrating the ability to communicate orally and in writing up to a level commensurate with degree level study. Students will also be required to enter into a Learning Agreement negotiated with the Director of Studies for the courses or the SSPSSR Director of International Courses and the convenor of the Year Abroad Module.
