“Propaganda exhibit -”

Reviewed 11 September 2012

I went through the Propaganda exhibit at this museum which was VERY informative, and generated good conversation between me and my boyfriend. Amazing how Hitler and Goebel compromised public opinion through fear and misinformation, and since there was not any opposition or outside information, his reign was unchallenged. We still see quite a bit of this propaganda used today, although we at least have so much information to process we can hopefully filter through any obvious mistruths!

Visited September 2012

Was this review helpful? Yes

See 15 more reviews by pitbrgher for Washington DC