Update: The Batak (Palawan, Philippines) Digital Archive

Dr. Dario Novellino, CBCD
Funded by the Firebird Foundation

More than 50 hours of ethnographic videos have been digitalized from the original DV tapes and stored in separate hard disks. I decided to select key ethnographic topics and edit some of the best footage in my possession to describe such topics. In addition to this, introductory scripts have been prepared in relation to each topic, describing the overall content of the films. When possible, the edited films are provided with a link to a scientific article, for those who are interested in gaining a deep understanding of the ethnographic material at stake.

A first scrutiny of the 50 hours of digitalized videos has resulted in the editing of 12 ethnographic mini-films. However, while the mini-films may serve the purpose of a specific audience, I still plan to archive longer footages related to the items listed below and to other topics that are still in the process of being chosen and, hopefully, will be edited by 2013. As of now, some of these mini-ethnographic films have already been downloaded on Internet:

- The Lambay Ritual  https://vimeo.com/47983659
- Wild Honey Gathering  https://vimeo.com/47967135
- Trapping and Hunting Monkey https://vimeo.com/48175499
- Batak River Fishing  https://vimeo.com/48250971
- Farming practices https://vimeo.com/48131612
- Batak Bamboo Harvesting https://vimeo.com/48090866
- Basketry https://vimeo.com/48011672
- Batak Harvesting of Wild and Domesticated Tubers https://vimeo.com/48090866
- Batak River Fishing  https://vimeo.com/48250971
- Bark Cloth Making https://vimeo.com/48142828
- Rattan Harvesting https://vimeo.com/48193605
- Batak Cassava Planting and Cooking https://vimeo.com/48203876