Global Business in a Dynamic Environment

1-15 July 2018

Based at the University of Kent’s Canterbury campus, the Kent Business School (KBS) Summer School programme delivers a diverse mixture of learning and cultural experiences. Not only will you study a dynamic and interesting subject, you will also get to know Canterbury and the surrounding area of Kent, known in the UK as ‘the garden of England’.

The only Certainty is Uncertainty…

Through the programme you will gain a detailed insight into the links between domestic and international activities and economies, as well as the major protagonists involved. Today’s political and economic backdrop is arguably more dynamic than ever:

• Brexit
• Donald Trump’s USA – Protectionism
• Vladimir Putin’s Russia – Aggression
• China – Free trade
• Global – Refugee crisis

An Immersive Programme

The course content draws heavily on the latest research and topics discussed at high-level meetings such as the Annual Meeting of the Academy of International Business. Furthermore, the international teaching staff and business participants bring with them a huge amount of first-hand experience and expertise that will truly immerse you in the subject.

Fees

Pay by Monday 16 April 2018 and receive an early bird discount of £100 per course.

“It is not only the course and the taught material that I enjoyed. I met a wonderful group of people and made friends from different countries, got to explore the beauty of Canterbury, Whitstable, and London through trips led by Kent’s student alumni, and got to experience what it was like to study at Master’s level at the University of Kent.”
