9.5 Work autonomously with a minimum level of supervision

10. A synopsis of the curriculum

In this module students will undertake a role in an ensemble performance under the supervision and direction of an appointed professional creator, building on learning from previous ensemble modules undertaken in their Foundation Degree. This creator will not necessarily have a working knowledge of circus and the disciplines involved, but will be chosen for their interest in circus, their reputation and their desire to innovate with the art. This creator could also come from any performance art form and choices will not be limited to theatre or dance, but could come equally from film or fine arts. Preliminary workshops with the director/creator or a member of National Centre teaching staff will be organised to ensure students are prepared for the project.

Students will be expected to fulfil their role in the production as if a professional performer, knowledgeable of the protocols and routines involved with devising an ensemble performance under the guidance of a confirmed creator. Students will work with a minimum of staff supervision, enabling them to test how they adapt their personal skills, understandings and personal working processes to the needs and vision of the creator running the module. Students may also be required to assume certain production management roles during the process and will be expected to work at times with a heightened degree of autonomy and will have an increased level of responsibility in terms of devising material. Students will be expected to submit a risk assessment related to a role that they undertake within the production to demonstrate a professional level of understanding regarding health and safety protocols.

The workshops, devising process (i.e. the rehearsal period) and/or performances may take place offsite in order to meet the requirements of the project and the professional creator, and to increase learning opportunities for students. Offsite may mean at another venue in London, the UK, or Europe. Offsite in this context means that rehearsal spaces may be hired in an external location, and that performances may take place at an alternative appropriate venue (e.g. theatre or festival). In terms of risk, the main consideration would be the loss of rehearsal or performance space due to external events beyond our control – in this case the National Centre for Circus Arts would ensure that students could complete the module onsite instead.

The National Centre will cover travel and accommodation costs for students if the rehearsal and/or performance take place abroad. This includes additional visa costs for overseas students.

   Minimum attendance requirement for this module is 100% - all absences must be approved through concessions procedures. A first absence without concessionary approval will lead to a formal warning, and a second absence will lead to the student being withdrawn from the production and failing the module.
