MODULE SPECIFICATION

10. A synopsis of the curriculum

   Module Aims
   This module will give students an understanding of some of the key elements to consider in conducting business in a specific region. The module will cover socio-cultural, political, and economic elements that impact on the commercial context of that region, from both a domestic and an international perspective. The module will also develop an appreciation of the role that region plays in global and online markets, both currently and potentially in the future.

   Overview of syllabus
   1. Introduction to the region and its importance to modern business
   2. The nature of the economy
   3. The role of public and private commercial activity in the region
   4. Aspects of the region and the rest of the world
   5. History and Culture - a brief introduction to history and culture history of the region
   6. Contemporary issues – focusing on one or two issues in the recent media
   7. The challenges and opportunities of doing business in the region
   8. Case studies of transnational organisations operating in the region

11. Reading List (Indicative list, current at time of publication. Reading lists will be published annually)
   Core study texts will depend on the region of study. Examples of core study texts for a study of the Greater China region would include:

   Core study texts
   - Modern China: A very short introduction, by Rana Mitter, OUP
   - Spence, Jonathan: The Search for Modern China. 2nd ed.; New York: W.W. Norton, 1999

15. Inclusive module design

The Collaborative Partner recognises and has embedded the expectations of current equality legislation, by ensuring that the module is as accessible as possible by design. Additional alternative arrangements for students with Inclusive Learning Plans (ILPs)/declared disabilities will be made on an individual basis, in consultation with the relevant policies and support services.

The inclusive practices in the guidance (see Annex B Appendix A) have been considered in order to support all students in the following areas:

a) Accessible resources and curriculum
b) Learning, teaching and assessment methods

16. Campus(es) or Centre(s) where module will be delivered:

Pearson College London

17. Internationalisation

Students undertaking the International Business module are expected to take account of regional and international developments in completing a literature review relevant to the companies and region they investigate in their study and assessments. Overall, they should show engagement with the latest work and research relevant to their work from a variety of contexts, including how any business they examine operates within a regional and global context.

If the module is part of a programme in a Partner College or Validated Institution, please complete sections 18 and 19. If the module is not part of a programme in a Partner College or Validated Institution these sections can be deleted.

18. Partner College/Validated Institution:

Pearson College London

19. University School responsible for the programme:

Kent Business School
