10. A synopsis of the curriculum

Module Aims

In this day and age, businesses are expected to act not simply in the interests of their own investors, consumers and employees, but also to act in a responsible way to society and the environment they rely on and operate within. Corporate sustainability is a tool used by organisations to manage these economic, social and environmental impacts and expectations.

This module will provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the opportunities and challenges that social and environmental concerns create for businesses as well as the wider society. By using the concepts such as the Triple Bottom Line (TBL) as a benchmark for effective corporate sustainability, students will be able to explore strategies to manage, measure and report economic, social and environmental sustainability in a corporate setting.

15. Inclusive module design

The Collaborative Partner recognises and has embedded the expectations of current equality legislation, by ensuring that the module is as accessible as possible by design. Additional alternative arrangements for students with Inclusive Learning Plans (ILPs)/ declared disabilities will be made on an individual basis, in consultation with the relevant policies and support services.

The inclusive practices in the guidance (see Annex B Appendix A) have been considered in order to support all students in the following areas:

a) Accessible resources and curriculum

b) Learning, teaching and assessment methods
16. Campus(es) or Centre(s) where module will be delivered:

Pearson College London

17. Internationalisation

Students undertaking the Sustainability module are expected to take account of international developments in engaging with the literature as relevant to their study on the module and the projects they must undertake. Overall, they should research and review the latest scholarship and industry standards from a variety of contexts, including regional and global contexts and how they interrelate.

If the module is part of a programme in a Partner College or Validated Institution, please complete sections 18 and 19. If the module is not part of a programme in a Partner College or Validated Institution these sections can be deleted.
