10. A synopsis of the curriculum

This course will progressively prepare students to collaborate on performing an ensemble improvisation of approximately 30 minutes in front of an audience. The course aims to give students confidence in their own spontaneous physical impulses, ideas and feelings, with the aim of expressing these impulses, ideas and feelings in a way which is visible to an audience. Particular attention will be paid to how the improviser can take inspiration from and respond to the expressions of other members of the ensemble.

Learning how spontaneous physical expression can be judged in relation to personal opinions about composition, the compositional limitations of a given performance situation and the structural decisions of the ensemble will be discussed and broken down in class exercises.

Workshops will confront the common blocks to performance improvisation such as self-doubt, hyperactivity, ‘blocking’ and will offer students the opportunity to developing strategies for dealing with these blocks. The structuring of improvisation will be explored; the use of scores, which may include the use of set material, text, vocal sound, music and other theatrical elements. The module will also focus on accessing the individuals previous technical and choreographic training and bringing it to bear on an improvisational situation. Students’ continuance of their technical training is an integral component of the module.

11. Reading List (Indicative list, current at time of publication. Reading lists will be published annually)

12. Learning and Teaching methods

Contact hours, Improvisation workshops 110 hours
Technique class 35 hours
Self-directed study 55 hours
Total Hours: 200

13. Assessment methods.

Continuous Assessment of improvisation 30%
Continuous assessment of technique 30%
Improvised Performance 40%

Note on Continuous Assessment: This is designed to assure and evaluate the student’s ongoing engagement with the course and aptitude for embodied knowledge/cognition. Students will receive clear criteria for this assessment at the beginning of the modules concerned.

15. The Collaborative Partner recognises and has embedded the expectations of current disability equality legislation, and supports students with a declared disability or special educational need in its teaching. Within this module we will make reasonable adjustments wherever necessary, including additional or substitute materials, teaching modes or assessment methods for students who have declared and discussed their learning support needs. Arrangements for students with declared disabilities will be made on an individual basis, in consultation with the Collaborative Partner’s disability/dyslexia student support service, and specialist support will be provided where needed.
