Students will be introduced to some of the professional standards surrounding teaching and pedagogy.

This will include gaining an understanding of safeguarding, risk assessment, insurance and other frameworks that support teaching practice.

15. Inclusive module design

Northern School of Contemporary Dance recognises and has embedded the expectations of current equality legislation, by ensuring that the module is as accessible as possible by design. Additional alternative arrangements for students with Inclusive Learning Plans (ILPs)/declared disabilities will be made on an individual basis, in consultation with the relevant policies and support services.

The inclusive practices in the guidance (see Annex B Appendix A) have been considered in order to support all students in the following areas:

- a) Accessible resources and curriculum
- b) Learning, teaching and assessment methods

Northern School of Contemporary Dance recognises and has embedded the expectations of current disability equality legislation, and supports students with a declared disability or special educational need in its teaching. Within this module we will make reasonable adjustments wherever necessary, including additional or substitute materials, teaching modes or assessment methods for students who have declared and discussed their learning support needs. Arrangements for students with declared disabilities will be made on an individual basis, in consultation with Northern School of Contemporary Dance's student support service, and specialist support will be provided where needed.

This module is intended to offer an inclusive approach to learning and assessment for most specific learning difficulties and physical disabilities. Where necessary individual adjustments will also be made.

17. Internationalisation

At Northern School of Contemporary Dance, the student population of the undergraduate degree programme come from a range of countries outside of the UK. Countries which traditionally feed our student body cover Western Europe, Eastern Europe, America, China & India.

Amongst our staff-base 2 tutors are French, one Czech/Dutch, one Australian and one Finnish. Drawing from their training and professional careers they bring a wealth of different experiences from outside the UK into their studio practice.

These teaching modules focus predominantly on the teaching and learning styles. How teachers teach? How students learn? How the learning environment impacts on both of these? Throughout the programme students are encouraged to engage in experiences and share historical, cultural and social experiences from their own societies and cultures in open dialogue. This is evident in the very practical dynamic of the student body through to the transference of knowledge across contexts; from the studio experiences to placements in schools, colleges and community environments.

Much of the curriculum focuses upon the UK education system, where Dance has a long and dynamic history. The rationale to focus on the UK agenda is part of a strategy to prepare students with enough 'classroom' experience and understanding to be able to apply for teacher training.
