1. Title of Module: (RSPG2) Creation, Rehearsal and Performance

2. School or partner institution which will be responsible for management of the module
   Rambert School of Ballet and Contemporary Dance

3. The level of the module (Level 4, Level 5, Level 6 or Level 7)
   Level 7

4. The number of credits and the ECTS value which the module represents
   60 credits (30 ECTS)

5. Which term(s) the module is to be taught in (or other teaching pattern)
   Terms 1, 2 & 3

6. Prerequisite and co-requisite modules
   With the exception of RSPG4 & RSPG 5, all modules are co-requisite

7. The programmes of study to which the module contributes
   MA Professional Dance Performance

8. The intended subject specific learning outcomes
   On successfully completing the module students will be able to:

   8.1 Demonstrate an ability to work creatively alongside a choreographer and implement an understanding of the choreographer’s particular choreographic process, movement style and vision of the work

   8.2 Apply sophisticated knowledge and skills gained through embodied and other forms of research in rehearsal, creation and performance of new choreography and revivals of historical works

   8.3 Engage in critical reflection and interrogation of new information in rehearsal contexts and use this to deepen interpretive skills and enhance performance

   8.4 Demonstrate the knowledge needed to build the required stamina, strength, performance skills and confidence in order to perform their roles consistently at the highest level

   8.5 Control nerves, stress, and anxiety and maintain safe practice within a pressured performance environment

9. The intended generic learning outcomes
   On successfully completing the module students will be able to:
9.1 Take personal responsibility for and adapt to working with different choreographers and in different performance venues where collaboration and teamwork play a vital role in the smooth running of a touring dance repertory company.

9.2 Utilize their technical, creative and interpretive skills, and personal performance style appropriately in performance through an understating of the cultural context of current and historical choreographic styles.

9.3 Work professionally both on tour and in rehearsal and use their skills, understanding and professional knowledge appropriately to produce consistently excellent performances.

9.4 Utilise the professional performance experience they have gained in rehearsal and performance to both acquire and sustain future employment in large-scale touring companies.

10. Synopsis of the curriculum

This module is designed to facilitate the creation and performance of dance works within a professional working dance company environment. It will take place primarily at Rambert Company’s base at its studios on London’s South Bank and in performance venues around the UK.

A large part of the Term 1 and part of Term 2 will be spent creating the work to be taken on tour and this will form the creative and part of the rehearsal component of the continuous assessment process (See Section 11). Choreographic work will be selected by the Artistic Director of Rambert Dance Company in consultation with the Principal and Artistic Director of Rambert School of Ballet and Contemporary Dance and the Director of the MA in Professional Dance Performance. The work chosen will be challenging stylistically, physically, technically and expressively, the entire repertory chosen to embody many differing movement qualities and form a cohesive and engaging evening of work for public performance. Invited choreographers will work together with the MA Programme Director and invited rehearsal directors to prepare the works for performance. Students from Rambert 2 will also be given the opportunity to perform in works in performances given by the main Rambert Company.

During this module students will be expected to learn how to work safely beyond their perceived limits of technical ability and endurance, and to develop the strength, stamina and technical excellence required for professional performance practice and through this an understanding of the mental and physical levels of activity needed for the demands of a day as a professional dancer in rehearsal or performance, or both.

Within the creation and rehearsal process, whether working on new choreography or re-creating existing work, dancers will expect to play an integral role in bringing work to performance. The dancer in today’s choreographic process is often viewed as a co-collaborator within the creation of work, rather than a receiver of information with dancers asked to generate dance material, often based upon tasks given by the choreographer. As such, the dancers will play an important role within creation of new work for Rambert2.

Students will work and train as a company with the daily curriculum modelled on a typical Rambert company rehearsal and/or performance week. Rehearsal periods will be demanding physically and psychologically, testing students’ stamina, endurance and abilities to work as individual artists within a highly creative team environment. Where appropriate critics from the national and local press will be invited to critique the work of Rambert2 when it is on tour.

The touring and performance schedule will form the performance component of the continuous assessment process. The Director of the MA in Professional Dance Performance will accompany students on tour and take the role of Rehearsal Director. Amongst his/her responsibilities will be that of monitoring student progress through the medium of daily technique classes, performances, rehearsal notes and feedback. Throughout all facets of the Creation, Rehearsal and Performance Module students will be expected to carry themselves in the manner of a professional touring company, and their behaviour both inside and outside of the performance venue should meet the expectations of the professional practitioners they come into contact with.

9. Learning and teaching methods

Embodied learning through:

- Direct Instruction from choreographers and rehearsal directors during devising, rehearsal and performance periods
- Creative contribution to the development of choreographic works during devising processes

Self-Directed learning through:

- A Reflective Journal for the purposes of analysis and reflection on their practice
- Personal library research into Rambert 2 choreographers’ artistic styles, precedents and approach to making choreographic works
- Commitment to and reflective analysis in participation in rehearsals and performances

Students will learn, and contribute to the development of, a range of choreographic works to generate a bespoke repertoire of works for Rambert 2 created by professional practicing choreographers and/or dancer/choreographers from Rambert company. Choreographic works will also be regularly revived from Rambert’s choreographic archive. These will be staged by the Director of the MA or invited professionals with the experience necessary to stage the chosen work.

Students will be selected to dance in new work as first or second cast by individual choreographers invited to work with Rambert 2. In newly choreographed work students will be required to gain their place on merit and ability and at the discretion of the invited choreographer. All students may not be guaranteed a place within individual works as a first cast member, but will be given the opportunity to perform the works when on tour. Students who are allocated a second cast place in a newly choreographed work will be decided by the invited choreographer in consultation with the Artistic Director of Rambert Dance Company, the Principal and Artistic Director of the Rambert School of Ballet and Contemporary Dance and the Director of the MA in Professional Dance Performance.

Existing work to be revived from Rambert’s archive will be chosen by the Artistic Director of Rambert Dance Company, the Principal and Artistic Director of the Rambert School of Ballet and Contemporary Dance and the Director of the MA in Professional Dance Performance. Any students not involved as first cast members in new work will be given precedence of a place within revived work over first cast students in new work, ensuring that all students within the module have the opportunity to rehearse and perform a full work as first cast.

In addition students will be required (where possible) to cover roles throughout the whole repertoire of the Rambert 2 in order to ensure a full cast should injury or sickness prevent a cast member from performing. Cover-casting will serve as an additional vehicle to ensure that all students to have a full opportunity to take part in the rehearsal and performance process.

The Artistic Director of Rambert Dance Company will have final say in all casting decisions in consultation with the Principal and Artistic Director of the Rambert School of Ballet and Contemporary Dance and the Director of the MA in Professional Dance Performance.

Throughout the process student will be expected to reflect upon and interrogate their practice as creative performers, and to engage in personal research to contextualise the cultural, social and/or political content/frameworks of the choreographic work they are performing.

10. Assessment methods

Students will be assessed by the Director of the Postgraduate Programme continuously throughout the creation and rehearsal process, with input from guest choreographers. The Postgraduate Programme Director, the Artistic Director of Rambert Company, the Principal & Artistic Director of Rambert School, and an invited guest from within the professional dance world will assess students in performance. Written and verbal feedback will be given at the end of each term by the Postgraduate Director.

Students will be assessed continuously on their contribution during the rehearsal period and during the performance period (80% of marks). Students will be assessed on their ability to:

13.1. Build a working relationship with a choreographer through process, improvisation, creation of material, and final rehearsals, to aid the choreographer in realising his/her vision

13.2. Demonstrate consistency in working at the choreographer’s required level/pace, including appropriate levels of physicality and creativity for the duration of the rehearsal process
13.3 Work as a team player within a highly artistic and often emotionally charged environment while keeping their own artistic integrity and demonstrating a professional approach at all times.

13.4 Show a consistent level of work throughout the rehearsal period demonstrating a progressive development of stamina, strength and confidence to enable them to fulfil the choreographers’ vision within each performance.

Students will be examined in a single performance (10%) Students will be assessed on their ability to:

13.5 Consistently produce performances of excellence demonstrating appropriate physicality, technical assurance, artistic engagement, expressive integrity and performance skills throughout all the performances given.

13.6 Demonstrate an ability to perform the works in such a way as to meet both the demands of the choreography, and audience expectations, without detracting from the choreographer’s concepts/ideas.

13.7 Demonstrate within performance a realisation of the choreographer’s process, ideas and concepts while demonstrating their own artistic interpretation derived from personal embodied and contextual research.

13.8 Demonstrate and apply an appropriate level of energy, engagement, style and projection that is appropriate within a professional dance performance.

Students’ Reflective Journals (Blog: Multimedia and/or Paper Journal (Minimum 25 double pages A5 or equivalent) will also be assessed on the basis of student-selected sections from their journals or blogs for assessment (10% of marks)

13.9 Rigour and quality of evaluation of personal performance in rehearsal and performance

13.10 Quality of Personal Research into choreographers’ work, including understanding of their artistic, cultural and social context

12. Inclusive module design

The School and Collaborative Partner (Rambert Dance Company) recognises and has embedded the expectations of current equality legislation, by ensuring that the module is as accessible as possible to all those who meet the entry requirements. Alternative arrangements for students with Inclusive Learning Plans (ILPs)/declared disabilities will be made on an individual basis, in consultation with the relevant policies and support services.

The inclusive practices in the guidance (see Annex B Appendix A) have been considered in order to support all students in the following areas:

a) Accessible resources and curriculum
b) Learning, teaching and assessment methods

13. Campus(es) or centre(s) where module will be delivered

Rambert School & Rambert Dance Company Studios on London’s South Bank.

14. Internationalisation
Teaching methods will include group discussion and student-led seminars to facilitate exchange of ideas, dance forms and practices between International and UK students. The former will be supported in any study issues they might have as and when required.

The choreographic work created within this module will include work created by choreographers from different cultural contexts and/or nationalities to ensure that an international focus is embedded in the course.

If the module is part of a programme in a Partner College or Validated Institution, please complete sections 18 and 19. If the module is not part of a programme in a Partner College or Validated Institution these sections can be deleted.
