In 1948, HMT Empire Windrush brought one of the first large groups of post-war West Indian immigrants to the United Kingdom, carrying 1,027 passengers on a voyage from Jamaica to London. This six week course looks at a selection of key writers who explore the experiences of these migrants from the so-called “Windrush Generation”. Sam Selvon’s novel The Lonely Londoners was one of the first to focus on poor, working-class blacks following the enactment of the British Nationality Act 1948. In The Final Passage, Caryl Phillips explores the Caribbean diaspora through the lives of a young family from a small island of the British West Indies who decide to join the 1950s exodus to the “mother country”.

Following a study of these key novels we will move on to Moon on a Rainbow Shawl, a 1957 play written by Trinidadian actor-playwright Errol John. Described as “ground-breaking” and “a breakthrough in Britain for black writing”, the play, set in Port of Spain, Trinidad, was revived in London in 1988 directed by Maya Angelou. We will then go on to examine a selection of poems by Benjamin Zephaniah, considering the position of the second-generation immigrant before finishing with two novels by female authors: Small Island by Andrea Levy and White Teeth by Zadie Smith.

Short Course Programme General information, terms & conditions

How to book a place

These courses are usually very popular so you are advised to apply as soon as possible. Places cannot be held without payment of the course fee.

- Online Booking is preferred. Please visit www.kent.ac.uk/tonbridge
- By post to us at the address below, using the application form in the programme booklet. Please note that you will not receive an acknowledgment of your paper application; your payment will usually be processed when the course becomes financially viable, otherwise we will notify you of cancellation approximately seven days prior to the course. A paper application affirms acceptance of our terms & conditions.

Course cancellation

As these short courses are self-financing, each course can only proceed if there are sufficient enrolments. Therefore, if a course is cancelled due to insufficient enrolments we aim to notify applicants approximately one week before the course start date; if there is no suitable alternative course, we will refund the appropriate course fee in full. The University of Kent reserves the right to cancel a course for this or any other reason in which case the relevant course fee will be refunded in full. We advise that you do not buy books or other course materials until that particular course has been confirmed as taking place: please contact us if you are unsure.

If you find it necessary to cancel your place on a course, please let us know as soon as possible. Refund requests, including the reason, should be made by email or in writing to us at the address below. We reserve the right to retain all or part of the course fee if you request a refund after 14 days of your online booking being made or paper application being received. Discretionary, partial refunds may be made, after the deduction of an administrative handling fee as follows:

- a course fee of up to and including £42 will incur an administrative handling fee of £10.00
- a course fee of £43 and over will incur an administrative handling fee of £12.50.

The University reserves the right to:

- a) exclude any student if the student's presence is making it difficult for the class to function properly
- b) cancel or amend the length of any course if the circumstances so warrant.

Neither the University of Kent, nor its staff, can be held responsible for any damage, loss or injury, however sustained, suffered by participants attending courses. Insurance is the student's responsibility.
